Movements
Fall 2018 Programming

Sept. 10
Bilal's Songs: Mixing and Re-Mixing the African Diaspora and Islamic World
A conversation with Rhiannon Giddens (Grammy winning musician), Dean Omar Ali (UNC) and Francesco Turrisi (multi-instrumentalist).

Sept. 11
El Salvador's Civil War of the 1980s: An Atlantic World Revolution
Presentation by Erik Ching (Furman University) about the historical memory of the Salvadoran civil war.

Sept. 12
Free Speech on Campus: A Challenge of Our Time
Geoffrey Stone (University of Chicago School of Law) will trace the history of academic freedom in our nation, explore some of the reasons for the recent controversies, and suggest avenues to explore going forward.

Sept. 13
Film Screening of Fog of War (Director Errol Morris, 2003)
Academy Award-winning documentary features Robert McNamara detailing eleven lessons he learned about warfare and diplomacy from his experiences during the Vietnam War. Discussant: Jerry Pundt (UNCG).

Sept. 15
Why Fairy Tales? Curator Talk: Emily Stamey
Curator Emily Stamey (Weatherstone Art Museum) shares how two chance movie posters launched a years-long research project and unexpected discoveries at the intersection of art, literature, and popular culture.

Sept. 19
Queering Classroom Norms
Workshop lead by Stacey Waite (University of Nebraska-Lincoln) that invites all teachers to discover the value of queer pedagogies. Graduate student professionalization discussion with UNCG faculty to follow.

Sept. 24
We're Here, Too: Feminism in Science Fiction and Fantasy
Presentation by Nalo Hopkinson (UC Riverside), author of a number of science fiction and fantasy novels, including Brown Girl in the Ring and Midnight Robber.

Oct. 1 - 31
None of the Above: Dismantling the School to Prison Pipeline
A multimedia collaboration of narratives, live stage presentations, digital and visual arts, mapping, and installation to create a space for needed critical conversation about the school-to-prison-pipeline.

Oct. 3
Immigrate, Migrate, Mow: Stories of Movement, Stories of Life
Installation presented in conjunction with the Keker First Year Common Read, Immigrate, Migrate, Move: Stories of Movement, Stories of Life.

Oct. 5
Learning from the 1960's Civil Right Movement: Strategic Nonviolence and Social Transformation
Nazombe (Rutgers University) will facilitate interactive discussion on peacebuilding in these turbulent times by exploring what we learned from strategic nonviolent resistance in the 1960s.

Oct. 16
The Queer Genders of Medievalism in the U.S. South
Tison Pugh (University of Central Florida) will explore the paradoxes of the modern United States South turning to the medieval past for models of gender, detailing the inherent instability of the cultural archetype.

Oct. 18
Film Screening of Story from the Corner of a Park (Dir. Trinh Van Thuy, 1996)
Documentary chronicling the lives of a Vietnamese couple whose children were born with deformities as a result of the chemicals used during the Vietnam war. Discussant: Dr. David A. Biggs (UC, Riverside).

Oct. 25
Dread & Delight: Fairy Tales in an Anxious World
Evening Tour: Dread & Delight
Public tour of Dread & Delight: Fairy Tales in an Anxious World, an exhibition that brings together the work of contemporary artists who use classical fairy tales to address the complexities of our lives today.

Oct. 28
From Asylum to Prison: Deinstitutionalization and the Rise of Mass Incarcerations
Anne Parsons (UNC) will discuss her forthcoming book From Asylum to Prison: Deinstitutionalization and the Rise of Mass Incarceration after 1945 (UNC Press). Refreshments will be provided.

Oct. 29
Reproductive Justice
Elena Rebecca Gutierrez (University of Illinois, Chicago) and Deirdre Cooper Owens (Queens College, CUNY) will speak about the intersections of race, gender, and immigration with reproductive health issues.

Oct. 30
A Medievalist's Field Guide to Undermining the Alt-Right
Paul B. Sturtevant (Smithsonian Institution) will discuss some of the ways that modern day racists and xenophobes try to use the Middle Ages to spread their message of hate along with strategies to combat them.

Visit hnc.uncg.edu
for more information about upcoming events